

Tourist booth tops chamber agenda

The great debate of If and Where to move the Elk Point Tourist Information Centre was back on Chamber's agenda again, the subject having been raised at the last meeting after a four year silence on the subject. A special meeting in June of 1986 determined the building should stay on the present site indefinitely, after three hours of deliberations.

If the booth is moved, where it should go was again the chief question. A location adjacent to a proposed overnight recreational vehicle campsite has been offered by a business owner, but Chamber members are not sure that this would catch the maximum number of tourists. A look into the visitors' log of previous years show a large portion of the tourists visiting the booth are northbound, with few southbound vehicles stopping to make inquiries. Highway versus off highway locations were also discussed. A committee to look into potential sites was set up and will report back to the next meeting.

Two full time staff members, Billie Milholland and Marnie McCowan, have been hired to run the booth this summer. Chamber agreed to open the booth for the June 22-24 weekend, and to open for the summer on June 29 through September 1.

A suggestion for a way to enhance service to tourists in future years was made by Sid Holthe, who has recently returned from a bus tour with the Retired Teachers Association. He feels that tour guides who could board a bus tour to point out the sights of the area, such as in-town attractions, the oilfield and forts, would be a worthy addition. Such guides could be recruited by the Chamber and would be available by appointment, for a fee.

District Agriculturalist Terry Holmgren offered congratulations to the Elk Point 4-H Club and to the community for the very fine 4-H Show. He noted that several Elk Point businesses had purchased calves at the Inter-Club Show and Sale in St. Paul, including Paul Stepa, who had bought his 26th calf in 25 years that day, and encouraged other businesses to purchase calves at these sales in future years. Holmgren said the club has "good leaders, good kids...and a lot of capability there. The club can grow, but needs local support to do so."

President Orr added that E-Can Oilfield Services made a considerable contribution to the 4-H show by loaning their facilities when the arena was not available, and noted that E-Can owner Andrew Boddy is "very involved" with the community.

A very special guest was then introduced to the Chamber. Mrs. Florence McDonnell, widow of Chamber founding president Eugene McDonnell, was presented with a plaque commemorating

Heinsburg's Class of 1990

Graduands who celebrated the completion of their high school years last Friday were, in alphabetical order: Denise Abraham, Kari Barstad, Janice Blacklock, Jennifer Coustin, Jennifer Daniels, Karen Durocher, Dwayne Faithful, Clifford Fryngpan, David Meger, Michelle Peters, Jason Quinney, Doyle Skolarchuk, Marcel Stanley, Henry Thomson, Jacqueline Votour.

No goodbyes for Heinsburg grads

Graduation is often a time for farewells, but Heinsburg's Class of 1990 took as their motto, "Never Say Goodbye," and celebrated the coming end of their high school years with an entertaining evening that welcomed back some of their former teachers as integral parts of the program.

Marjorie Carter, away from Heinsburg for the past year to further her own education in British Columbia, was back home again to serve as mistress of ceremonies for both the banquet in Heinsburg Community Hall and the graduation ceremonies in the school auditorium. She opened the evening in the ballroom decked hall with the introduction of each of the 15 graduands, their escort and parents. Grace by John McNabb preceded a fine meal catered by the Heinsburg Community Club.

Toasts were made to the parents by Michelle Peters, with a reply by Walter Skolarchuk noting the importance of friendships, to the staff by Jason Quinney, and to the grads by Connie Thompson, who offered the Class of 1990 "one last lecture" and assured them "you'll always be our kids." David Meger added a toast to the grandparents, thanking them for their guidance and love through the years. Miss Carter led a round of applause to the Community Club for the meal and to Kirsten Vinge for the handsomely decorated cake. To close this portion of the program, Miss Carter quoted the late Chief

Dan George: "Remember this when you go...keep a few embers from the fire in your village...and someday come back to rekindle the fire."

Minutes later, parents, grandparents and friends were gathered in the school auditorium as the graduands entered on the arms of their escorts to the music of "One Moment In Time," a solo sung by Karen Sawchuk to the accompaniment of Judy McNabb, and were seated on stage, encircled by a rainbow of pastel balloons.

Jennifer Daniels and Dwayne Faithful gave the invocation, reciting the many truths of a reading entitled "Children Learn What They Live." Student Council President Kari Barstad told her classmates "Well, guys, we've made it through!" She continued with reminiscences on some of the teachers, and offered special thanks to school secretary Marie Zayac, who she noted "is probably sick of playing referee" for the grad arrangements, and can now go back to being Mr. Wilson's secretary. She said that she feels the class has accomplished a lot and had a lot of fun doing so, and urged her fellow grads "Let's go out there and show them who we are."

MLA John Drobot brought greetings from the Province, and offered a poem entitled "What Is A Teenager?"

Valedictorian Henry Thomson, noting that in addition to Heinsburg Grad, June 8 was the date of Farmers' Day, Treaty Day, and Comic Relief Day, looked back in time to the day "4655 school days ago" when five members of the Class of 1990 were among the children who entered Mrs. Parr's kindergarten class. He led his classmates through the trail of memories of elementary school, junior high, and finally senior high, with some former classmates "having mechanical difficulties," others taking various exits, and some additions to their number "finding the on ramp" to be with them today. His advice to his fellow grads, for their future travels through life, was to "keep an open mind and remember to smile...being happy is being successful."

Town Council

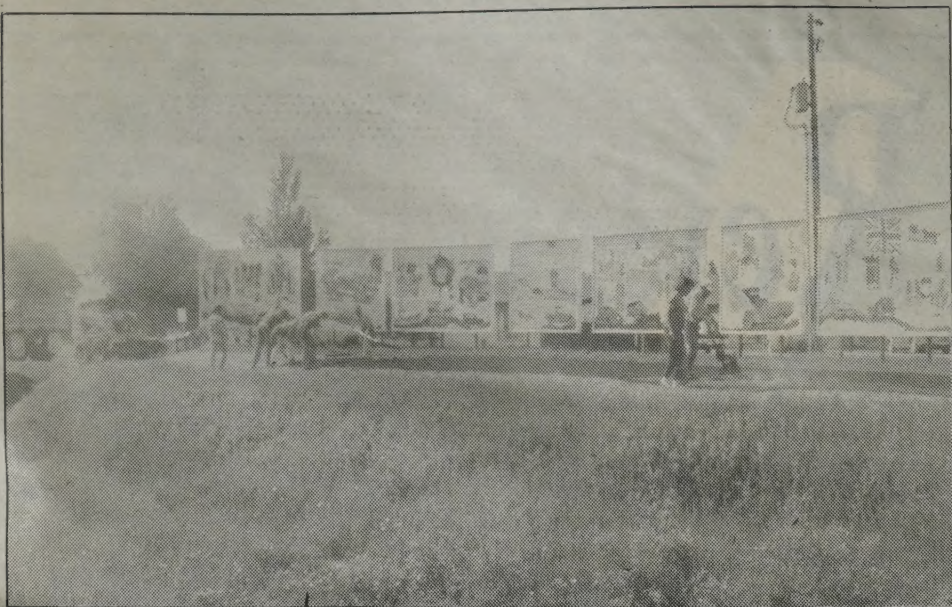

No quorum, no meeting

The rare occurrence of failure to have a quorum of Town Council members on hand for a regular meeting has shelved Council's June 11 agenda. A convention, an unexpectedly long out of town business meeting, a vacation and a new baby combined to leave four Council chairs vacant Monday evening, with not enough Councillors on hand to conduct the scheduled business.

Seniors' Open House

On Friday, June 8 Community Services and the Pioneer Circle cooperated in a joint program at the Pioneer Circle. The objective was to highlight the skills that Seniors, as a group, have developed, and to provide an opportunity for Seniors to share these skills, at no charge, with anyone who might like to learn.

Community Services would like to thank the many individuals who volunteered their time to set up displays and to share their skills. It was unfortunate that more people did not attend.

her late husband's efforts, and was congratulated on her recent celebration of her 90th birthday. Marie Buck thanked the Chamber on her mother's behalf, and added that while the family is pleased to have the Chamber remember Mr. McDonnell, she hoped they would also remember the efforts Paul Stepa, another founding member who is still an active part of the Chamber today. She also noted that her husband Ed had been instrumental in getting the Chamber going again after it hit a severe slump several years ago and almost shut down entirely. Warm applause showed that the efforts of these two individuals were indeed appreciated.

There will be one more meeting of the Chamber before the summer recess, this to be held on Wednesday, June 20.

Mural Park Update

Park construction underway

After months of behind the scenes activity, work on the mural park is finally becoming apparent. Everall Construction moved in early Tuesday morning, June 5, and made short work of the asphalt pathways.

Further developments include sponsorship by the Elks Lodge of the mural park lighting. A corporate sponsor campaign has begun and Zarowny Motors (St. Paul) Ltd. has donated a park bench.

The next big project on the park will be completion of a bridge linking the asphalt walkways at the north end of the mural.

In Our View

Encouragement well taken

Heinsburg's graduation ceremonies last Friday were like a breath of spring breeze, uplifting and invigorating. The reason these were especially so was the manner of support and encouragement that surrounded the proceedings, and the recurring humor which reminded us that this was an occasion of celebration, a time to be happy.

Sometimes graduation ceremonies get bogged down in advice, from how not to behave at the grad party—(something that was not mentioned once—can it be that these people actually believe they have taught their children enough during the past 18 years, that they don't have to harp on it and spoil a special occasion with dire predictions?)—to advice on keeping the nose to the grindstone and shoulder to the wheel in order to succeed in life. This one was different. These people want happiness more for their children than monetary gain, or world acclaim, and that is good to see.

Their theme, too, was not one of being on the brink of who-knows-what and that you'd better look forward to whatever it is, but that one doesn't have to say goodbye and rush away, never to return until you're rich and / or famous. These people love their kids, and the community loves them. They are in no big rush to see them go, and when they do go, they want them to come home again, and often. Could it be that other communities feel this way, but feel that their children have nothing to stick around for, so they'd better make the best of things and chase them off to the ratrace, for fear of looking silly and sentimental about wanting them to come back from time to time?

It was good to see the expression of cultural heritage in the ceremonies. We are a multicultural nation, but sometimes we are so afraid of appearing different and that this difference might make us unacceptable to others, that we submerge our traditions and beliefs rather than glorying in them and using them to make an occasion even more special, as these parts of the evening did on Friday night.

The good natured bantering and the humor also made the evening a great success. Sometimes proceedings such as a graduation can get long, dull and boring. Not that one! Val- edictorian Henry Thomson celebrated Comic Relief Day in fine style, the class historians had people almost rolling in the aisles, and guest speaker Gus Anand left no one wondering why his former students had invited him back to share in this occasion. Who would ever have thought that graduation exercises could be this entertaining?

Thanks, Heinsburg, for a wonderful evening. It was great to see you all again. And best of luck—here, elsewhere or wherever you choose to be—to the Class of 1990.

Alberta Trails

History on other trails: part 2

By Irene Magnusson

After a hearty supper in the diner in our motel in Saskatoon, we went off to see the Mendel Art Gallery. Unfortunately for us, they were doing some work in the Gallery, so we were not able to see the art there. However, many of us found the gift shop nearby, so we enjoyed browsing through there, purchasing a few souvenirs.

Our rooms were, in all places, very nice, but this night they were upstairs, and some huffing went on.

In the A.M. we toured the city, with a guide in the bus pointing out the highlights, ending up with a visit to the Natural Science Building in the University of Saskatchewan. I regretted not having more time here, as there were many things to see. First, there was the beautiful Conservatory, full of the most exotic plants, dozens of orchids, violets, cacti, so many unknown to me by name or family. I could have stayed there for hours. But upstairs were rocks and lizards and snakes, and downstairs there were dinosaurs, fish, and other creatures, and, later, coffee to soothe us. The building alone was fascinating; on top of all this, pretty girls to show us around. I hated to leave there.

Lunch was fitted in around a visit to the James Art Studio. These lovely paintings, mostly of wildlife and the prairies, formed a small showing but was well worth the time. The Homestead Cafe, next door, fed us well and called us by our first names, always cosy.

Next on our varied agenda was a tour of the Ukrainian Museum of Canada. Here hang the intricate, colorful works of many busy fingers: the tapestry, cross-stitch, weaving and beadwork we recognize as Ukrainian art. Gorgeous painted Easter eggs, fancy children's clothes, as well as the many tools and contrivances the folks of another age and another culture brought to Canada for their use and entertainment in the great settling of the prairies. I marvelled at the long woven panels, and wondered how in the world they were made...

The wind had come up a bit, clouds and cooler this afternoon, but we were not dismayed. This was the boat cruise on the South Saskatchewan River we had been looking forward to, and most of us went. The two scow-type boats, long and flat with partial awning covers, were ideal for cruising the river with such a number of people. The hour or so we spent on the water gave us a good view of the buildings crowning the hillsides above. (A strip is left entirely as a park along either side of the river, so this was treed and green.) We passed beneath several bridges and saw more in the distance, I believe a total of six in all.

Our boatmen, who were also guides, kept up a constant stream of information for our benefit as we moved along over the gray waters, while geese and ducks carried on their affairs near the shore. A magnificent church hovered on the skyline, tall trees hid most of the smaller buildings; one would not readily call this the 'prairies' city it is, viewed from the river. We were happy enough to rest and coffee before the next leg of our journey, which would take us to North Battleford, some 85 miles away.

One of our guides, I forget which one (or perhaps all of them), told us that Saskatoon rests on an enormous bed of potash, which is mined for use as fertilizer and (mostly) exported, there being an almost endless supply, something like "enough to last 700 years."

Saskatoon's population, our guides told us, is 190,000 (not small) and has agriculture surrounding it, oil patches opening up, uranium in the north and limestone building rocks (or was that granite?) of a lovely pinkish tan, actually several shades of tan, so they can go and cut it out, then build a building right there, lovely to look at and certainly made from 'rock of ages'.

The province comes equipped with endless blue sky, field edges lined with trees and shrubbery, lovely homes, ponds and lakes, cattle, horses and cottony-white clouds dotted here and there overhead. Truly a lovely place to visit this late May week. The roads ARE quite good, too.

We pulled into the Tropical Inn driveway, on the outskirts of North Battleford, about 6 p.m. This was our 'banquet night' so we all dusted ourselves off a bit and combed our hair in preparation. We were served our meal in a large basement dining room, which we did justice to, then enjoyed an evening of socializing and light entertainment. Bouquets were handed out, especially to those who had made our outing so smooth and entertaining, Sid Holthe being the chief planner, but there were others who took care of other details. There were speeches, readings, poems and laughter, along with a few nonsense games, all great fun, and a help to getting better acquainted with one another.

On this, our last day, we awoke to sunshine and a warm day for our first stop, the Western Development Museum. This is a very comprehensive museum, with not only a very large assortment of mementos of the past, but also many of the buildings used by pioneers to do their business in. School, churches, stores, printing shop, law office, blacksmith shop, and many more; all were there, fitted with their original furnishings, calendars, old lace curtains, small windows and rough wood floors, the works. Over across the large grounds stand row on row of the old tractors, combines, mowers and threshers, all the machinery of the past in abundance. I think they even start some of them up now and then, to prove it can be done. I noticed a thatched-roofed building, over beside the little church, Russian-muddled and white-washed.

Again it was time to go. Next stop was Cutknife and lunch, then a quick peek at the World's Largest Tomahawk, in a small park nearby. On then to the Cutknife National Historic site, about 10 miles north. We saw much evidence of the great wind they had in the vicinity last summer, with many fallen trees over a distance of some miles. At last, to the top of a plateau, and the cairns and markers, messages placed to tell the events of the past. Here, on this high land, we grouped the gang and all the cameras got a workout.

On the bus again, we made good time to arrive at Lloydminster about 3:00 p.m. In this border city, the three prime attractions must be the Barr Colony Antique Museum, Fuch's Wildlife, and the Imhoff Art Gallery. We viewed all three. Since my last visit to these museums, a gracious new centre has been built. So far it is only partly filled, or partly finished, with about 1/4 of the Imhoff paintings on the new walls. However, the rest are still on view around back, in an old part, and nearby the wonderful collection of old things, tools, small machinery and houseware, and some old cars at the back.

I enjoyed all of these, but not so much Fuch's Wildlife, as I'm not fussy to look at dead animals. A very brief stop in Vermilion, then home to Elk Point and a 'last supper' together at the Empress. Then it was time to say goodbyes. End of a great tour, well-planned and enjoyed by all.

Heinsburg grads will "Never Say Goodbye"

Karen Durocher of the graduating class had the honor of passing the school colors to Grade 11 student Cory Twarog.

Northlands School District representative Ken Klein, with the help of Counselor Viola Dumont, made a presentation of necklaces and certificates to three students from that jurisdiction, Jennifer Daniels, Karen Durocher and Marcel Stanley.

Following a hilarious series of remarks on each member of the graduating class, delivered by Loretta Smuk and Cory Twarog, commemorative scrolls were presented by Deputy Superintendent of Schools Carmen Brodziak, while Member of Parliament Deborah Grey presented special mementos of the occasion. County of St. Paul Council member Bob Smith presented County pins "to remind the grads to be proud of their county." Ms. Brodziak, who said she remembered the grads as young children, reminded the Class of 1990

"there are heroes out there... a Japanese kid named Suzuki who spent part of his childhood behind barbed wire in a camp for enemy aliens... to role models in the community... like Deborah Grey, who stands behind what she believes." In closing, Ms Brodziak urged the grads to "go out there and get yourself a life!"

MP Deborah Grey, admitting it was "good to be home—I'm Meeched out!" told the students "this is where I belong, these are the real people." She asked them to remember their roots in the community, and advised, "If at first you don't succeed, hey, there will always be a by-election!" One of the grads, Jennifer Coustin, was a former student of Miss Grey's at Dewberry.

Guest speaker was former Heinsburg teacher Gus Anand, who is now teaching in the Peace River country. He had taught the Class of 1990 from Grades 7 through 11, and had now "travelled 500 miles to tell you that you will bring credit to your parents, to the community, the province and the country." In an entertaining manner which from time to time he turned into a guessing game, Anand told each class member's future hopes for success. On a more serious vein, he noted that he had every cause to believe that each would be a success, as well as being fair, kind and decent individuals.

Doyle Skolarchuk presented Anand, along with Principal Laverne Wilson, school secretary Marie Zayac, MC Marge Carter, soloist Karen Sawchuk and pianist Judy McNabb with gifts on behalf of the grad class.

Larry Quinney brought bilingual ("I learned French at Heinsburg") greetings from the Frog Lake Band, and expressed deep pride in seeing native people mingling with people whose forebears came from other lands on this great occasion. He urged the native members of the graduating class to "Never forget the Great Spirit... respect His creation, honor Him well... may He continue to bless you." He noted that when the native people gave up their land, "great Mother Earth," and agreed to share it with the settlers, in exchange it was agreed that education for the native people should be paid for. He feels that today's native students should "take advantage of this" to make the best of their opportunities in life.

Cliff Espetveidt of the Marwayne Branch, Royal Canadian Legion, presented a $250 Legion bursary to Kari Barstad, and thanked the students of Heinsburg for their participation in the Legion's annual essay contest.

In his annual graduation remarks, Principal Laverne Wilson recognized all the teachers, school boards and bus drivers who had something to do with the Class of 1990 through their school years, whether those years were spent at Heinsburg, Frog Lake, J. F. Dion School at Fishing Lake, or Dewberry. He told the parents of the grads not to feel alone, because their children "will never say goodbye, they are always welcome to come back." Wilson noted that he had some second generation students in the class, having taught their parents a number of years ago. He had a long speech prepared, he said, but rather than taking up considerable time, had written it out and put it in envelopes which he presented to each graduate.

One final presentation was made by Mr. and Mrs. Morin to their son Jason Quinney. The Morins congratulated the graduating class, and said they were pleased to see native people sharing the limelight. "When our people accomplish a feat, we honor them with an eagle feather," they said in making the presentation of a feather to Jason.

Marge Carter said that she had come 800 miles to MC, and would not let the grads leave without her "words of wisdom." These she read from Robert Fulghum's "All I Really Needed To Know I Learned In Kindergarten"—such gems as the Golden Rule, rules of basic sanitation, and the exhortation to "hold hands and stick together." In closing, she noted that the graduation had brought not only herself and Mr. Anand back to Heinsburg, but also other former teachers Henry Paulgaard and Bob Hendriks.

The Class of 1990 then returned to the Community Hall for their Graduation Dance, and to receive the congratulations of their families and friends.

Watch for Alberta Transportation and Utilities road construction in your area this spring and summer.

Our department has contracted construction in many areas of Alberta this year (see map) to maintain existing highways and build new ones to keep the province on the move.

For your safety and ours, please slow down and drive with extra care when you see a construction zone. These zones are always well marked. ROADSIDE SIGNS and FLAGPERSONS will direct you safely through or around work areas.

The Government of Alberta will spend millions of dollars on roadway construction and upgrading in 1990.* Watch for future notices of specific projects in your area.

For more information contact your Alberta Transportation and Utilities' regional office in St. Paul at 645-6330.

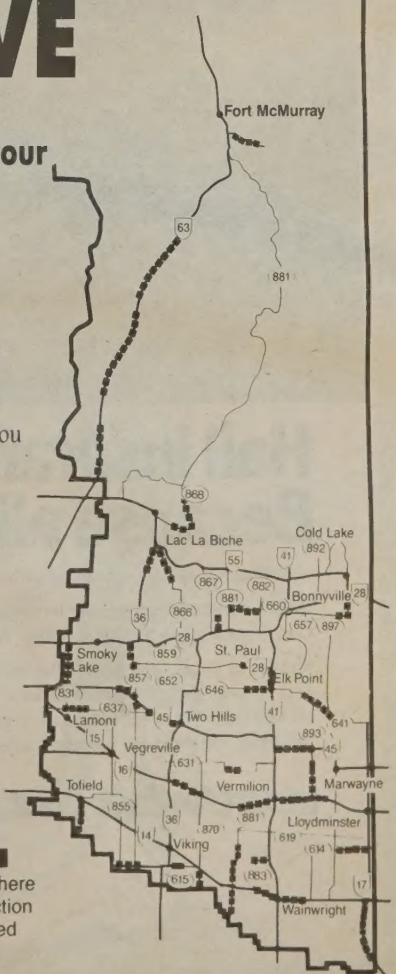

* Scheduled projects may be subject to change depending on contractors' schedules and weather.

New management at Hilltop Cafe

Exciting changes are in the wind for Elk Point's Hilltop Cafe, as new manager Robert Blayney prepares for his Grand Opening this weekend.

The recent arrival from Edmonton finds Elk Point quiet, relaxing and a great place to raise a family. Noting that there are many young families in the area, Blayney plans to target family-style dining, with special menus and special prices for the younger set, which will "make it cheaper to take your kids out to eat than to leave them with a sitter." The children's menu, now being developed, will have a 10-item selection for $1.99, and a selection of 5 desserts at 99 cents, all geared to what children like best.

The new management is already serving up $1.99 breakfasts, which Blayney says are affordable and "may encourage the customers to come back for lunch."

Coming later this month or early in July is the 15 Minute Lunch, which guarantees that your choice of lunch from a special section of the menu will be served to you within 15 minutes of your ordering time, or you eat free.

A totally new experience for evening diners is also on its way. The MenenKnight Dining Experience will transport you back to the days of King Henry the 8th, when cutlery was unknown, and food was eaten with the fingers. A huge plateful of everything from chicken to Danish back ribs to deepfried shrimp, accented with onion rings, deepfried mushrooms, corn on the cob and more will be the focus of this finger food extravaganza.

Evening diners can also choose from a regular menu featuring prime rib, New York strip loin steaks, and other selections including a diet plate. A children's menu is available.

Wednesdays at the Hilltop will feature both lunch and dinnertime smorgasbords.

A twelve foot salad bar with a multitude of selections and a dessert cart with a variety of toothsome delights are also coming to the Hilltop in the very near future.

In the adjoining lounge, Happy

Hour offers three hours of free pool, peanuts and pretzels, as well as beverage specials. In early summer, the deck along the west side of the building will become a beer garden with cook-your-own steaks which you can barbecue to your own particular taste.

Blayney is proud of his "excellent staff—they're knowledgeable, good workers and willing to go the extra mile" to provide top notch customer service. He also is coming up with "new ideas every day" of ways to please the public, and is eager to incorporate suggestions from the community into his operation.

Keep your eye on the Hilltop—it sounds exciting!

Community support for 4-H

By Ruth Vogel

What is a community?

The Elk Point 4-H MultiClub can give you their explanation of what a community is to them.

It's people working together to make a town a better place to live. It's people giving of themselves unselfishly for the good of others.

Our Club found out that Elk Point has a great number of real community minded people this past month.

Our Achievement Day was arriving and all things were ready—dates set with the Regional 4-H Office, arena booked and judges confirmed. This all being done in November, all we had to do was get our animals ready for June 2, 1990.

All went as planned until we found the arena had been double booked!! This happened in the spring but we didn't find out until close to Achievement Day. Now what? No problem, we had booked the arena first and had our date confirmed. Surprise!—4-H members, if you want the arena, you'll have to set up outside the back doors of the arena. We're talking 4-H members and their animals, not the manure out the back door.

This is when our real community people stepped in. Andrew Boddy of E-Can Oilfield Services donated the use of his shop. Stewart Bintz lent us his corral panels. B J Trucking hauled in the sand. Charlie McKenzie donated the shavings. Community Services lent us the coffee urn. Further Ed lent their tables. The Town of Elk Point gave us the use of their bleachers, Walter Skolarchuk the PA system, and the E-Can staff was there to help wherever their help was needed. And the list goes on.

You see, the change of place caused a lot more work to be done Friday night and Saturday morning, and we feel it caused inconvenience to the E-Can staff, but everyone worked together—members, parents and community members, and made our Elk Point 4-H MultiClub 25th Achievement Day a great success.

Thank you to the trophy donors, steer buyers (Elk Point Co-op, Paul Stepa, Beranne Feeds, E-Can) and all those who came out to our show.

Still going strong and playing ball at Thirty!!!

Hail Insurance Because all it takes is fifteen minutes.

15 minutes is all the time most hailstorms need to cut down a crop's yield or wipe it out completely.

But 15 minutes is about how long you need to spend with your local Alberta Hail & Crop Insurance Corporation agent and arrange this year's Hail Insurance.

So protect your crops against the sudden and devastating losses that can happen when the crop is at or near its peak growth. Ask your local agent for this year's details on Hail Insurance: insure cereal and oilseed crops up to $150 an acre, vegetables, potatoes and sugar beets to $450. Fire Insurance is included, and there are premium refunds for last year's policyholders.

Insure Today! Contact your local agent.

What's news at the library?

Congratulations to Muriel Holthe, the winner of the "Rate A Book" contest. As the winner, she received the book The Princess by Jude Deveraux. The staff would like to thank everyone who entered the contest.

Muriel Holthe read the book The Private Voice by Peter Gzowski. She rated the book as good, light reading and would recommend it to others to read. Her comments about The Private Voice are that it is an autobiography of Peter Gzowski's life as a newspaper reporter, producer and author. He travels extensively in Canada and the Northwest Territories interviewing a vast cross section of people for his show and books. Peter's love of Canada, his zest for life, his dedication and discipline for work and his keen interest in the game of golf shines through.

With summer thoughts in mind, the library has put out a display of materials on summer activities from roller skating, to fishing, to golfing. Please come in and have a look at the wide selection of materials on summer fun in the sun.

NEW BOOKS:

Cold Harbour, by Jack Higgins is a story full of suspense, adventure and double crosses set in Europe during World War II.

A Ruling Passion, a novel by Judith Michael, takes you to the world of television broadcasting where love, revenge, intrigue and murder intertwine three lives.

The Evening News, a novel by Arthur Hailey, transports us behind the scenes to explore the conflicts, both personal and professional, of a great TV news network's two main characters, Harry Partridge and Crawford Sloan. Follow their travels to such places as Manhattan, Canada, Britain and France to the climax set in the Andes of Peru.

This science fiction book by C. J. Cherryh, Rusalka is a grim but human story of desperate love, sacrifice, and courage between a man and a tormented spirit.

A Thunder On Neptune, a science fiction novel by Gordon Eklund, takes us on an interplanetary adventure to Neptune, where a group of gifted children are to perform a secret mission.

The Handmaid's Tale, by Margaret Atwood, offers a futuristic look at America, "land of the free," in the year 2000.

MUSIC CASSETTES:

Five new music cassettes in the library's music collection are: Jim Reeves and Patsy Cline's Greatest Hits, New Kids On The Block, The Lost Boys: The Original Motion Picture Soundtrack, and In The School Yard by Sharon, Lois and Bram.

Fight pollution - grow a plant!

Indoor plants make wonderful pollution fighters in homes, apartments and offices.

The air inside a typical home can be contaminated with as many as 350 harmful chemicals and is often more polluted than the air outdoors.

The most common of these chemicals are formaldehyde and benzene, which can cause the most harm. Prolonged exposure to these can cause dizziness, coughing, nausea, appetite loss, skin rashes, and eye, nose and throat irritation.

Formaldehyde is used to make pressed wood and fibreboard, and to manufacture carpets, paneling, furniture and clothing. Benzene is a solvent present in gasoline, inks, oils, paints, plastic and rubber.

Next week, we'll inform you of green ways of cleaning the air in your house.

Sleep tight.
You've got hail insurance.

We sell weather-tested security blankets.

For more information on rates, extended policy for fire damage or loss, and cash discounts, contact:

Doreen at Alberta Wheat Pool
Phone 724-3568 days or 724-3567 evenings.

Crop report

Weekend showers were too sparse to help much in alleviating the lack of soil moisture noted in this week's Alberta Wheat Pool crop report. Moisture conditions are rated as fair, with more rain needed. Growth prospects under the current conditions, however, are rated good. Seeding is almost complete, and spraying is just getting started.

LAUNDRY FOR THE LITTLE LEAGUE AND THE HOME TEAM—ONLY 20¢ A LOAD

ELECTRICITY: A GOOD, CLEAN BARGAIN!

If your laundry day includes loads and loads for you, the family and a little league team too, you'll use a lot of water and soap, but the power needed for all that washing and drying will only cost you about 20 cents a load.

Ironing sets you back just six cents an hour.

Got the energy to give the lawn a trim too? Your electric mower operates for only seven cents an hour. If vacuuming the house is on the agenda, that's less than a dime an hour.

Want to sit back and relax after it's all done with a cup of coffee? Make a pot and keep it hot for under two cents an hour.

We can't make work around the house any easier, but in a day and age when the cost of just about everything seems so high, it's nice to know that electricity is still a great bargain.

Canadian Equestrian Federation

Western rider examinations held

On Sunday, May 27, 1990, Vermilion's Lakeland College hosted the first examination day for the Canadian Equestrian Federation Western Rider Program for Riders I and II in the Level I series.

Students and their horses arrived early Sunday morning and were tested on their practical knowledge of Rider I, on the care and handling of the Western Horse. Heavy emphasis was placed on safety, as they each demonstrated the proper Catch and Tie method, Leading, Grooming and Hoof Care, and Saddling and Bridling. Next came a riding test, where the students had to show their capability and knowledge concerning arena etiquette, acceptable mount and dismount, Open and Closed Direct Rein, straight and non-resistant backup, smooth stop, the different aids used to cue the horse in motion, and an acceptable body position at the walk, jog and lope.

After lunch, students wrote their theory exams for both Rider I and II. Among the areas covered were ground and riding safety, trailer loading, parts of the horse, dental care, blemishes and unsoundness, deworming (internal parasites), and equipment. Next came their final riding test for Rider II. Students were asked to ride a figure eight pattern at a posting trot and a lope, demonstrating their knowledge and skill of the proper diagonals and varied speed at the lope. Students were marked on their precision on riding a specified pattern, knowledge of the Indirect Rein, acceptable rein positions when using one or two hands, transitions, and recognizing the proper leads. During the day students were also asked oral questions by the examiners to test their overall knowledge.

Congratulations to the following successful graduates: Tanya Kenyon, Elk Point, Kathy Stone, Elk Point, Stacey Melnyk, Innisfree, Nathan Carter, Innisfree, Naomi Carter, Innisfree, and Kristen Landerl, Vermilion, who with hard work and dedication have passed their Rider I and II in the CEF Level I Program successfully. Good luck with your future efforts with the CEF Western Rider Program!
